RESIDENTIAL LIVING

Northpoint students may return to residential living at the commencement of the fall semester. Northpoint as an Institution has taken steps to reduce over-capacity rooms. Residents in Gibson, Gallagher, and Academy Halls will receive instruction on the Institution's health and safety protocols through the Student Development Office and Resident Directors and Assistants prior to move-in.

Mask wearing and social distancing will be required in hall common areas and atriums. Visitation hours will be reduced to limit resident travel between floors. Floor and building activities will be modified to promote healthy practices while maintaining community.

In Gallagher Hall and Gibson Hall, each student will have the opportunity for a private room at the price of a double. For those who prefer a roommate, consideration will be given on a case by case basis. In a double room, extra precautions may need to be followed.

High frequency contact surfaces of residence halls, such as outer doors and common bathrooms, will be sanitized on a regular basis. It is important to recognize that sanitizing of the students' rooms will be the responsibility of the room occupants.

Access to each of the residence halls will be limited to resident students, faculty, and staff.

During this time of the COVID-19 crisis, non-residents will not be permitted in residence halls. Students will not be permitted to have guests until further notice. Housing selection that took place at the end of the Spring 2020 semester may be apt to change because of new guidelines or due to rooms now reserved for quarantine and isolation rooms. The Student Development Office will contact residents should changes need to be made.

Quarantine rooms are available on the first floor of both Gallagher and Gibson Hall. Also, there is an isolation room with a single bath available for those unable to leave campus or international students.

Northpoint will provide food service for anyone in the Gallagher, Gibson or Academy Halls who is in quarantine or isolation. While rooms have been reserved for isolation and quarantine, there may be scenarios where the healthiest option for a student displaying symptoms is to travel home for a period of rest to get well apart from the student body.
