NOTICE: WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specific conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use" that user may be liable of copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

8. The copying must not be systematic: this, this part of the law extends to copying and distribution of a single copy of the same material on separate occasions, but does not apply to related copying or distribution of multiple copies of the same material, whether made on one occasion or over a period of time.

9. Interlibrary loan arrangements such as consortial reciprocal agreements must not make copies in such “aggregate quantities” as to “substitute for s subscription to or purchase of” copyrighted works-Section 108(g)(2).

10. The rights of reproduction and distribution under this section do not apply to musical works (e.g. sheet music or recording of a musical performance), a pictorial, graphic or sculptural work, or a motion picture or other audiovisual work other than an audiovisual work dealing with news. Works published as adjuncts to articles ore chapters such as illustrations, diagrams, charts, tables, photographs, and the like are the exception to this rule: they may be copied along with the rest of the work.
